Objectives

After completing the course, the students should be able to:

- demonstrate basic knowledge of modern Danish,
- in general terms account for Danish language history,
- in general terms account for the main features of Danish literary history.

Content

The course includes an introduction to Danish, focusing on vocabulary, pronunciation and language structure. The students develop their vocabulary and language proficiency by reading different texts, for example central works of fiction, and through oral exercises. The course also includes an introduction to Danish language history.

Type of Instruction

Teaching is delivered in the form of lectures and seminars.

When the course is offered as a web-based distance course, special types of instruction suitable for that form of distribution are used.

Examination

The course is assessed with the grades Fail (U), Pass (G) or Pass with Distinction (VG).

The course is examined through written and oral tests.

The number of examinations is limited to five.

Students at Linnaeus University have a right to have their grades translated to the ECTS grading scale. In order to have their grade translated to the ECTS scale, the student must request this when the course starts.

Course Evaluation

At the end of the course, a course evaluation is conducted and compiled into a report, which is made available to students and filed and stored according to departmental regulations.
