- describe differences between different regional dialects,
- demonstrate knowledge of the elements of Swedish place names and personal names.

Content

Module 1. Language, the individual and society, 5 higher education credits

This module provides a general introduction to linguistics, emphasizing Swedish language studies in particular. The module also deals with the relationship between language and society and the significance of language for the individual.

Module 2. Rhetoric in oral and written contexts, 10 higher education credits

The module consists of four main elements:

- the history of rhetoric and its modern applications
- rhetoric in theory and in practice
- analysis of oral, written and multimodal genres
- practical exercises in oral and written rhetoric.

Module 3. The construction and use of language, 10 higher education credits

The module deals with Swedish grammar and provides tools for analyzing language in texts. Students are also introduced to fundamental elements of Swedish phonetics.

Module 4. Linguistic change and variation, 5 higher education credits

The module deals with variations and changes in the Swedish language from circa 1700 to the present. It primarily provides an historical perspective, but also takes into account different aspects of today's society. Differences between Swedish dialects are discussed and basic elements of onomastics are introduced.

Type of Instruction

Teaching is in the form of lectures, classroom teaching, seminars and group work. Participation in seminars is mandatory. When the course is offered as a web-based distance course, appropriate teaching methods will be utilized.

Examination

The course is assessed with the grades Fail (U), Pass (G) or Pass with Distinction (VG).

Examination forms that may occur are oral and written examinations and continual testing during the course.

Only five examination opportunities will be provided.

For modules comprising up to 20 higher education credits, students must have a grade of Pass with Distinction in order to receive a final grade of Pass with Distinction.

Students at Linnaeus University are entitled to have the course grade translated into the 7-step ECTS scale. A request to have the grades translated must be made to the teacher at the start of the course.

Course Evaluation

At the end of the course, a written course evaluation is performed and compiled into a report. The evaluation report will be made available to students and will be filed and stored according to departmental regulations.
