Prerequisites

To be admitted to the course it is required to have completed at least 150 credits from previous courses within the programme including Extended Research Methodology, 7,5 credits.

Objectives

After completing the course the student is expected to be able to:

- problematize knowledge on limited theoretical and empirical problems
- independently formulate a research question
- use relevant scientific research methods
- collect and analyse data
- critically discuss research reports
- independently write and present a degree project
- present, orally and in writing, and discuss their conclusions in dialogue with various groups

Content

The course is based on a series of seminars about the students' reports during the process of writing a bachelor degree project. The work with the degree project includes definition and formulation of a research question, writing a report about the research work and critically discuss and analyse other students' degree project material.

Type of Instruction

The teaching consists of seminars and tutoring. Obligatory parts are stated in the schedule.

Examination

The course is assessed with the grades A, B, C, D, E, Fx or F.

The degree project consists of a written report that will be defended during a seminar. Students are also required to pursue an oral and written opposition on another degree project as part of the examination.

The grade A constitutes the highest grade on the scale and the remaining grades follow in descending order where the grade E is the lowest grade on the scale that will result in a pass. The grade F means that the student's performance is assessed as fail.

Grading criteria for the A–F scale are communicated in writing to the student by the start of the course/module at the latest, as well as how grades on separate elements of examination are weighed to a final course grade.

A degree project that is not assessed to possibly fulfill the requirements at the final tutoring is recommended not to be treated at the originally scheduled final seminar.

Course Evaluation

During the implementation of the course or in close connection to the course a course evaluation is to be carried out. Result and analysis of the course evaluation is to be presented as feedback both to the students who have completed the course and to the students who are to participate on the course the next time it is offered. The course evaluation is to be carried out anonymously.
