Prerequisites

At least 30 credits in History or the equivalent at the second level.

Objectives

After completing the course the student should, with a high degree of independence, be able to:

- account for a well-defined empirical field,
- discuss the empirical field from the perspectives of its historical situation, theoretical approaches, concepts and problems, and methodological applications.

Content

In this course the student has the opportunity to specialise empirically and methodologically in a subject field specified and defined by a supervisor on the basis of the student's subject background, knowledge and interests.

Type of Instruction

Teaching is delivered in the form of individual supervision.

Examination

The course is assessed with the grades Fail (U), Pass (G) or Pass with Distinction (VG).

In order to receive the grade of Pass, the expected learning outcomes must be achieved. The course is examined through an oral examination. For students who do not pass the first examinations, retake examinations are provided in accordance with local regulations at the university.

Course Evaluation

At the end of the course, a course evaluation is conducted. Results and analysis of the course evaluation are communicated to the students who have taken the course and the students who are taking the course when it is offered the next time. The evaluation is anonymous. The course evaluation is filed according to departmental regulations.
